

PROPHETIC DREAM/WORD

I awoke this morning by something I dreamt. I saw myself at a meeting in the near future. I was prophesying, and the word was a recapitulation of a part of the word the Lord gave me for 2010, which I recently posted on the JILCC website. Please understand I do not dream much at all! My prophetic flow is usually when I am awake, but not this time... I woke to:

“The change of governmental administrations is upon us! I am raising young apostles and prophets who will honor their fathers (who are not rogue), but will not make some of the same mistakes. What took their fathers to learn in 30 years, they will learn in three. The change of governing administrations is upon us!”
